Because the loading rack area was used by the refineries to load/off load refinery products, there is a potential that contamination may be present in the loading rack area.

All areas within the preliminary site boundary will be investigated during the current Remedial Investigation (RI) Phase.

The extent of contamination, will ultimately define the true boundaries of the site.

What about that closer review made you decide to add the acreage? Is it because that's where refinery products were loaded? Sorry for all the questions. Just want to make sure I understand it correctly.

Thanks for your help.

The decision to include the additional 25 acres was made about 6 months ago based on closer review of historical aerial photos of the area.

Okay, thanks. When was it added?

The original 125 acres did not include a loading rack area located east of the railroad and north of 221st Street south. The loading rack area was where refinery products were loaded onto rail cars for distribution or crude oil off-loaded for refining purposes.
